

"LOOKING 'EM OVER"

With Mike Callas Jr.

EAVESDROPPING AT THE COLISEUM

Did you ever find yourself listening to others without benefit of invitation—like maybe in a bus, market-place, or perhaps at a Dodger or Ram game at the Coliseum?

Many a time the opinions expressed by those you're eavesdropping on are similar to yours and a great desire comes over you to burst in and tell the group you agree with them, however, you're embarrassed and you decide to keep your thoughts to yourself.

Such was the occasion with us last week during the Ram-Redskin game at the Coliseum. Perched midway up on the 45 yard line on the south side of the field, the following chatter found its way to us.

MATSON EXPENSIVE PROPERTY

Before we bring you this football discourse, permit me to introduce the participating group—(1) MISS BENSON & HEDGES, about 22 and stunning in her new summer attire—(2) MR. FILTER TIP, 30 and a Ram lover—(3) MR. MENTHOL-FRESH, just past his teens and now a USC student—(4)MR. SOFT-PACK, probably 40 and a perfect double for the "MAN IN THE GREY-FLANNEL SUIT."

MISS BENSON & HEDGES: "Gee, Jon Arnett's cute."
MR. FILTER-TIP: "Matson better be great this year after the price the Rams had to pay for him."

MR. SOFT-PACK: "You're so right. They should never have given Fuller, Panfil and Holtzman for him—they were half the defensive platoon last year."

MR. MENTHOL-FRESH: "I wonder how SC will do this year?"
MR. FT: "The Rams had a good year in '58 without Matson—you think the Rams would try and help the defensive unit and improve Wilson and Marconi."

MR. SP: "I agree with you—the Rams are going to miss those three and Larry Morris too."

BRITO OVER MORRIS

MISS B&H: "Is Arnett married?"
MR. MF: "I wish SC could pull crowds like this for their games" (85,858 to be exact, chum).
MR. FT: "I don't know about Larry Morris. I think Gene Brito will do a better job for us. Brito's been a defensive star for many years with the Redskins."

MR. SP: "Did you know that Brito teaches school in West Covina?"
MR. MF: "If it wasn't for the pros SC and UCLA could pack them in again like the ole days."

MR. FT: "Wow! Look at Shofner snag that Wade pass!"
MR. SP: "Yes—but they have handkerchiefs back on the 50."
MR. FT: "Damn those officials. Can't they look the other way once in a while. And why don't the Rams protest like the Dodgers do in baseball?"

MISS B&H: "Arnett should be in the movies!"
MR. MF: "Now that SC doesn't have to worry about the PCC any more, maybe they'll come up with a good year."

RICHTER UNINSPIRING

MR. SP: "What's wrong with Les Richter? He's letting the Redskins linemen push him around."
MR. FT: "He (Richter) can't do it all alone. Strugar and Bradshaw are really mauling, too."

MR. SP: "Little Eddie (Le Baron) is sure getting a lot of production—what's happened to all the red-doggin the Rams used to do last year?"
MR. MF: "When SC plays its first game here I'll be sitting on the other side of the field in the cheering section."

MR. FT: "It's only an exhibition game—why should the Rams tip themselves off? They can get hurt red-doggin."
MISS B&H: (Looking through her binoculars) "Jon's better looking than I thought."

OFFENSE GOOD—DEFENSE STINKS

MR. SP: (In the fourth quarter) "If the Rams don't hurry, they'll get beat by two points."
MR. FT: "It doesn't matter—the Rams have proved to me they have a good offensive machine that will score many points this year. And Wade is one of the best passers in the league."

MR. MF: "I think SC will beat UCLA and Notre Dame this year."
MISS B&H: "How old is Jon Arnett?"

MR. SP: "If you think that all the Rams need to win the division title this year is to have a good offense—you are sadly mistaken. (The whistle blew and the Redskins won 23-21.) They better concentrate on their defense. If the Bears were out there today instead of the Redskins the score would have been 52-21. Everybody in the league has an offense but very few teams can boast about their defensive platoon."

MR. FT: "I guess maybe you're right. The Rams better win this year or goodbye Sid Gillman."
The crowd began its slow trek to the exits and our eavesdropping came to an end. However, if MISS B&H is within reader distance, know that Jon Arnett is 24, was recently married and is considering a sports movie after the current season is over.

Mall Plan Here Held Impractical

Plans to convert downtown streets to pedestrian malls did not appear too practical here. That appeared to be the consensus following a meeting of the Retail Merchants Division. The burglars took the back of Robert Tremaine, manager of the Oxnard Chamber of Commerce, where such a plan was tried as an experiment. One of the problems here, would be that the streets where cars would have to be parked are already congested, and closing down other streets would complicate the problem.

OUTDOORS with MEL

By MEL SALTZMAN

We made it to San Diego just as planned. The fishing is good but as expected it dropped off slightly the day I arrived but it was good enough to talk about.

The boat Alalunga left at 2 loaded and I mean loaded with 67 hearty fishermen all hoping that the fishing would be as good as the day before when 2230 yellow-tail were caught at the Coronados. We stopped at the bait receiver and picked up 35 scoops of sardines and 15 scoops of anchovies. Then I hit the sack.

At 5:30 we dropped anchor close enough to South Island to walk ashore without hardly getting wet. Just after sunrise the yellows started. It seemed that everyone got a hookup at the same time. Within 45 minutes we had about 50 yellowtail in the sacks with at least that many more lost. Then the action slowed down with at least 2 or 3 fish hooked up at all times. We decided to move which was a mistake. We tried several spots at North Island and Middle Grounds with only a few fish taken. Finally we moved back to the same spot and the fish cooperated. We fished until the bait was gone and the final count was 112 yellowtail and 20 big Bonita.

If you plan a trip to San Diego soon I would take the following tackle. Take at least 2 outfits, one with a heavy duty reel and mono line of at least 30 pound test. The other outfit should be a medium rod with a light bait action and have the reel filled with 15 or 20 pound mono. Use the heavy tackle first with a large hook like a size one. When the fishing slows down go to your lighter tackle because the fish get spooky as the sun comes up. This is the best time to go to San Diego, and the best day to go seems to be Mondays as that's the day the least fishermen fish. For more information call Mel at FA 8-2173.
